

DATE: 23.1.19
PUBLICATION: The Caterer
MONTHLY UNIQUE USERS: 241K

25 - 31 JANUARY 2019

THE WEEKLY FOR HOSPITALITY LEADERS

THE CATERER

HOTELS • RESTAURANTS • FOODSERVICE • PUBS & BARS

Whatley Manor, Old Downton Lodge and Roganic receive four AA rosettes

The AA has announced its latest rosette winners, with the Dining Room at Whatley Manor in Malmesbury, Wiltshire; Roganic in London; and Old Downton Lodge in Ludlow, Shropshire, being awarded four rosettes.

A further 16 have been awarded three AA rosettes, including Gordon Ramsay's London restaurant Pétrus; Rothay Manor in Ambleside, Cumbria; and Allium at Askham Hall in Cumbria.

Simon Numphud, managing director at AA Hotel & Hospitality Services, said: "We are delighted to recognise these hotels and restaurants for achieving such high standards of culinary excellence. Congratulations to all those working at these establishments, who continue to show the breadth and quality of the British culinary landscape."

Niall Keating, executive chef at Whatley Manor, told The Caterer: "I've always had goals as a chef and this is one of those that really feels like we're starting to make a small dent in this industry. We've only been here for two years, so to get four rosettes so quickly in a hotel that was already very well established is a dream come true for us."

Three AA rosettes

- Alchemilla, Nottingham, Nottinghamshire
- Allium at Askham Hall, Cumbria
- Cornerstone, London
- The Cross at Kenilworth, Warwickshire
- Etch, Brighton
- Fordwich Arms, Canterbury, Kent
- John's House, Mountsorrel, Leicestershire
- Launceston Place, London
- Lords of the Manor, Cheltenham, Gloucestershire
- The Methuen Arms, Corsham, Wiltshire
- Pétrus, London
- Rothay Manor, Ambleside, Cumbria
- The Salutation, Sandwich, Kent
- Stem, London
- Stocks hotel, Sark
- The Wilderness, Birmingham